

Harlequin masks

After two doses of chemo they look like twins, two pale faces with bald heads, a vast expanse of lips and gums laughing through a litany of vulgar jokes they perform in a call and response that makes me blush and makes her cough so hard he has to hold her like he did when they first heard the news.

Ronald H. Lands MD
Department of Medicine
University of Tennessee Knoxville, Tenn.

CMAJ 2011. DOI:10.1503/cmaj.110532

© 2011 Thinkstock