POETRY

A goodbye

A month ago a long-time patient called my office to "say goodbye."

He was ill complicated medically but not terminal

So I had thought

He needed an intervention an IVC filter. because, while on warfarin, He had a new leg blood clot

I had worked to get it organized — but it was taking time

He called my office a couple times that week He spoke to my nurse to find out the status of his procedure

He was anxious.

He called on Thursday.
I was away from the office
He told my nurse to have Me call Him.
He wanted to say goodbye.

The next day I called. He was not home I spoke to his wife

He had collapsed at home — a few minutes after hanging up with my nurse He was in the ICU He died the next day

I never got to say goodbye
I did find out that He did not die from the clot in his leg

I guess this is my goodbye.

David M. Kaplan, MD MSc North York General Hospital University of Toronto Toronto, Ont. CMAJ 2012. DOI:10.1503/cmaj.111209

